The Facts On File® Cumulative Index

The Index is the key to locating all subjects, people, companies, organizations and countries in the Facts On File News Digest articles. The Index is also useful as an independent reference tool for the location of dates of events, full names and titles of individuals and associations.

How to Use

Every subject, personal name, company, organization, geographic area and topic in the news is listed as a heading followed by related entries. The Index headings are arranged alphabetically according to the letter-by-letter system (for example, NEWS, NEW York). Topical subheadings divide long lists of entries under headings.

Every entry in the Index is a shorthand synopsis of a news item followed by the date and the page reference. The date shows the month and day in numerical form (for example, 8-31 means August 31). The page reference shows the page number, the margin letter parallel to the news item and the column in which the item appears on the page. Entries in the Index are usually listed in chronological order.

Tips for easy searching: Don't give up if you don't find what you are looking for under the first heading you try; try other headings related to the story. Virtually every news story that was widely reported in the national press is in Facts On File. The Index is studded with cross-references showing where additional or related information can be found. It is often helpful to search first for a specific name that you know is part of a story, since broader headings accumulate many entries.

Cross-references: The heading and subheading cross-references direct the user to other headings and/or subheadings. The word "See" in the cross-reference means to turn directly to the heading or subheading mentioned. The words "See also" indicate that all entries below should be checked as well as those listed under the other related heading or subheading.

Abbreviations: Abbreviations used in Index entries are listed on the reverse side.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

World Markets Roiled by Asian Economic Woes

Thailand July 2 devalued its currency, the baht, which had been targeted by international currency speculators. The crisis caused currencies in the Philippines, Malaysia and Indonesia to plunge July 10–21, and sent world stock markets careening in October. The International Monetary Fund intervened, offering massive loan packages to several nations. Thai Prime Minister Chavalit Yongchaiyudh Nov. 3 resigned due to the crisis. [See 1997, pp. 1009A1, D1, 972B2, 838G2, 781A1, 526D1, B3]

Diana, Princess of Wales, Dies in Car Crash

Great Britain's Princess Diana Aug. 31 was killed in a Paris car crash along with companion Emad Mohamed (Dodi) al-Fayed. The princess's death unleashed an unprecedented worldwide outpouring of grief and calls for stricter control of paparazzi. [See 1997, pp. 994B1, 637A1, 621A1]

China Regains Sovereignty Over Hong Kong

Hong Kong reverted to Chinese sovereignty at midnight June 30, ending 156 years of British colonial rule. [See 1997, p. 469A1]

Scientists Clone Adult Sheep

Researchers in Scotland had created the first genetic clone of an adult animal, a lamb named Dolly, it was reported Feb. 23. [See 1997, p. 143E1]

Pathfinder Explores Mars

Mars Pathfinder, an unmanned U.S. spacecraft, July 4 landed on Mars, and began sending to Earth pictures and geographical and atmospheric data. [See 1997, p. 927D1] . . . The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration Oct. 15 launched Cassini, an unmanned craft that was to orbit Saturn, despite protests over the potential hazards of the craft's plutonium power cells. [See 1997, p. 782B3]. . .The Russian space station *Mir June 25 crashed into a cargo craft, in the worst of a series of accidents plaguing the space station. [See 1997, p. 605A1]

El Nino Causes Severe Weather Conditions

Researchers Dec. 10 reported on the severe climate conditions caused in late 1997 by the El Nino weather phenomenon. El Nino's effects were felt throughout North and South America, as well as in parts of Asia. [See 1997, pp. 973E1, 705E3]

Middle East

Israeli–Palestinian talks ended 1997 at an impasse, as Israel declined to specify the extent of its second of three slated West Bank troop redeployments. [See 1997, p. 970C1] . . . The talks had stalled in March over Israeli settlement construction in the occupied West Bank. [See 1997, p. 157A1] . . . Suicide-bombings by Hamas had rocked Tel Aviv and West Jerusalem in March, July and September. [See 1997, pp. 721A1, 622G2]

Iraq Oct. 29 expelled U.S. members of a United Nations arms-inspection team. The U.S. personnel Nov. 20 were permitted to return, but Iraq continued to declare sites off-limits to inspectors. [See 1997, p. 969C2]

Mohammed Khatami, a moderate cleric, May 23 won Iran's presidential election. Khatami Dec. 14 called for a "thoughtful dialogue with the American people." [See 1997, pp. 1003C2, 369A1]

A note to the Librarian—

Citing Facts On File

We often have inquiries from subscribers about the proper format for citing Facts On File articles in bibliographies and footnotes. Several years ago, we established a standard style for academic use. The reverse side of this sheet gives examples of typical bibliographic and footnote citations.

The sheet can be posted in the library, taped inside the binder, or kept on file to be duplicated for patrons, students, and teachers to use. If you already have a copy on file, please replace it with this new, updated version.

World Political Information Table

This table gives the area, population, population density, political status, capital, and predominant languages for every country in the world. The political units listed are categorized by political status in the form of government column of the table, as follows: A—independent countries; B—internally independent political entities which are under the protection of another country in matters of defense and foreign affairs; C—colonies and other dependent political units; and D—the major administrative subdivisions of Australia, Canada, China, the United Kingdom, and the United States. For comparison, the table also includes the continents and the world. All footnotes appear at the end of the table.

The populations are estimates for January 1, 1994, made by Rand McNally on the basis of official data, United Nations estimates, and other available information. Area figures include inland water.

Map Symbols

In a very real sense, the whole map is a symbol, representing the world or a part of it. It is a reduced representation of the earth; each of the world's features–cities rivers, etc.–is represented on the map by a symbol. Map symbols may take the form of points, such as dots or squares (often used for cities, capital cities, or points of interest), or lines (roads, railroads, rivers). Symbols may also occupy an area, showing extent of coverage (terrain, forests, deserts). They seldom look like the feature they represent and therefore must be identified and interpreted. For instance, the maps in this atlas define political units by colored tints. Neither the colors nor the boundary lines are actually found on the surface of the earth, but because countries and states are such important political components of the world, strong symbols are used to represent them. On the maps in this atlas the surface configuration of the earth is represented by hill-shading, which gives the three-dimensional impression of landforms. This terrain representation conveys a realistic and readily visualized impression of the surface. A complete legend to the right provides a key to the other symbols on the maps in this atlas.

In this atlas a "local-name" policy generally was used for naming cities and towns and all local topographic and water features. However, for a few major cities the Anglicized name was preferred and the local name given in parentheses, for instance, Moscow (Moskva), Vienna (Wien), Prague (Praha). In countries where more than one official language is used, a name is in the dominant local language. The generic parts of local names for topographic and water features are self-explanatory in many cases because of the associated map symbols or type styles.
